RESEARCH AND TEACHING INTERESTS

My research primarily focuses on the determinants and consequences of disclosures, as well as the role and dynamics of the auditing industry. I use machine learning models in my research to shed light on aspects of firms' disclosures that are not easily perceptible to humans.

I teach Data Analytics. In my course, I introduce students to emerging accounting technologies such as data visualization, robotic process automation, and machine learning applications to prepare them for the fast-changing global marketplace.
